CHAPTER XX

An Act to incorporate and confer powers upon the Faculty of Homœopathy and for other purposes.

[12th July 1950.]

WHEREAS the unincorporated association called "the British Homœopathic Society" was established in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-four for the advancement of the principles and practice of homœopathy:

And whereas the London Homœopathic Hospital was founded in the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine and a school of homœopathy was opened at that hospital in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven:

And whereas in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-three the British Homœopathic Society was merged in the Faculty of Homœopathy (hereinafter referred to as "the existing Faculty") which was incorporated under the Companies Act 1929 as a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital:

And whereas in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight by the authority of His Majesty the King the said hospital became known as the Royal London Homœopathic Hospital:

And whereas the practice of homœopathy has been carried on continuously for one hundred years at the said hospital and instruction of members of the medical profession by post-graduate courses has been undertaken there by the existing Faculty:

And whereas by the National Health Service Act 1946 there were transferred to the Minister of Health all voluntary and municipal hospitals including the Royal London Homœopathic Hospital but the practice of homœopathy and post-graduate courses in homœopathy are carried on at that hospital as heretofore:

And whereas it is expedient that the members of the existing Faculty should be incorporated and have powers conferred on them as in this Act provided:

And whereas the Minister of Health has given assurances that under the National Health Service Act 1946 homœopathic institutions will be enabled to provide their own form of treatment and that the continuity of the characteristics of those institutions will be maintained:

And whereas the provision of facilities for the continuance of homœopathic research education and practice is likely to be the responsibility of persons having interest in homœopathic science and its development in the new administration under the said Act:

And whereas by reason of the said circumstances a trust was established in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-eight under the name of "the Homœopathic Research and Educational Trust" for the advancement of the teaching and practice of homœopathy and for research in matters relating to homœopathy and a sum of thirty thousand pounds has already been subscribed for that purpose:

And whereas the following persons are the existing trustees of the said trust:—

Sir Lynden Livingston Macassey K.B.E. K.C.;

Sir Edward Robert Peacock G.C.V.O.;

Frederick Montague Baron Amwell of Islington C.B.E.;

Sir John Weir G.C.V.O. M.B. Ch.B.Glas.;

John Paterson M.B. Ch.B.Glas. D.P.H.Camb.;

Dame Myra Hess D.B.E.;

Sir Clarence Thomas Albert Sadd C.B.E. D.L. J.P.;

William Lees Templeton M.D. Ch.B.Glas.;

Albert Edward Bridges Webb;

George John Gordon Bruce Baron Balfour of Burleigh D.L. J.P.;

Rupert Palmer Colomb C.B.;

The Lady Megan Arvon Lloyd George J.P. M.P.:

And whereas the purposes aforesaid cannot be effected without the authority of Parliament:

May it therefore please Your Majesty that it may be enacted and be it enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal and Commons in this present Parliament assembled and by the authority of the same as follows (that is to say):—

1. This Act may be cited as the Faculty of Homœopathy Act 1950.
